Sometimes a as much a private concern as an ordinary partnership, the general public never being invited to subscribe for the shares nor being allowed to acquire an interest after the formation of the Company. This organisation is occasionally adopted for the purpose of giving the employes of a concern pecunary interest in it, and it is also frequently adopted by Clubs, with the internal affairs of which the public has no concern whatever. For a newspaper to publish the reports of such companies against the wish of 8.50 the directors, though perfectly legal, would firmation to an extraordinary general meeting display a want of consideration and courtesy. But when the prospectus of a Company has of directors in Shanghai, which has been found 20.00 been advertised and the public have been invited to subscribe for shares the right of privacy has been abandoned, and from that time the affairs of the Company may fairly be considered public property. Hopes and fears for the success of the gathering, around which so many honourable traditions of the past have clustered, were set at rest before the first race was run, and there was no feature present to mar the enjoyment or discount the success the occasion. Though gloomy clouds overhang the Valley when the morning broke they were dissipated before toon by warm and cheerfu sunshine which gave brightness to the decorations on the long line of stands, and lent a pleasing fitness to the charming summer costumes in which the large number of ladio present were attired. For more than that, how ever, were the sun's rays particularly acceptable and in the eyes of sportsmen this consideration Hough, the energetic Clerk of the Course, must have looked with very pardouable pride upon the result of his efforts, for a better racing track could hardly have been desired, warmth and drying breeze having given a surface to it which scarcely showed any signs The date of the meeting of the Green Island of wear after the hard day's work. THE DAY'S RACING.

. The first day's racing did not belie th anticipations which the training gallops had aroused. It was constally thought that there was little to choose between the great majority of the candidates, and as the result proved this actually was the case. The griffins, as I have said all along, are a very poor lot, and of them Varuus and Black Pearl stand most prominent. With regard to the respective merits of these Pearl taking the inside borth with Islander going willing to accept rates 1d. per dollar lower for would win the Darby, and on the eve of the the two favourites raced neck and neck a The Scurry Stakes, sweepstakes of $10 each; delivery of bills against shipments in April race I gave it as a special tip—the only long way shead. The racing yesterday upon the whole was scarcely of the exciting type; indeed there was only one close fluish that being the one in which my fancy Amenable was beaten by Steadfast in the Compredores' Cup. Nevertheless the events were full of interest. the same sport is witnessed on the two remain ing days we may well regard the meeting as a success. The ball was opened with the Wong. nei-chong Stakes and, as I feared, Khedive gave a great deal of trouble at the post, before the arowd could ultimately be got in line. When however, he really got the signal he buckled t the job in capital style and literally remped in, Primrose, of whom not a little has recently been

Ashley Cap, which was next on the card proved a gift for the grand Majestic, who cantered home a very easy winner. Then Islander, but I failed entirely to discover where in the perference was justified, for the training has always shown the black pony of Mr. Hoppins Fortune smiled in more ways than one upon to be far the better of the two. And as a matter, the opening day of the Hongkong Race Meeting I of fact he won hands down The Foothow Cup. the first race after tiffin, proved somewhat of surprise, the game old Vagrant beating the field in a very hollow manner. Bovril, for whom such a high price was recently paid, did not show prominently at any part of the struggle, and I must confess that to me it appeared though Mr. Sassoon did not move him quite ast enough in the early stages, but allowed him to drop a great deal too far in the rear before asking him to extend himself. If this waiting policy-admittedly a good one in a long race-is not overdone to day I fully expect the splendid due to retrieve the failure of his first attempt For the Valley Stakes a very large field turned out, but being a good behaved lot there was not much difficulty experienced in getting them off Mr. J. D. Humphreys made a triumphant debut, or re-dibut, if I may so call it, into our little racius world, by carrying off the event with Varans, and as I believe, he arrived last night by the French mail we may perhaps have an opportunity to-day of congratulating the cheary contleman on his encouse. Certainly Varuna is the best of the whole lot of subscription griffine, and I fully expect him to continue in the path of victory which he had commenced to Features of the race were the game display of Assyrian and the placky attempt of Stonebenge. Amenable did not flatter his supobriers at this distance. The Lusitano Cup, was the next item and resolved itself speedily into tussel between Talisman and Porpoise, in which, as was generally expected, the former bad considerably the bust of it. Islander turned out to beat two very inferior animals in Torchlight and Popper and Salt for the Canton Cup and had not the slightest difficulty in disposing of them. Only two old ponies, Homes unrd and Vagrant, contested for the Hongkong Club Cup | manner in which their onerons duties were discharged... The races were brought off sharp The LUSITANO CUP, presented by the members notice:to time and the starters did their difficult work well In looking over the card for today I experience not a little difficulty in making my selections, because in most of the events the starters have not yet been definitely determined upon by the owners themselves.
